RESOURCES TO FOLLOW

The following annotated bibliography was compiled by various members of the AWA Diversity Committee and the list is modeled after other resources lists that are available online from local governments and neighboring institutions. The entries are organized by group name or author's last name. The AWA Diversity Committee does not necessarily endorse, recommend, or assume responsibility for the work of any author or publisher, listed here or otherwise. Some of these entries may contain offensive words and/or explicit examples of racism, discrimination and/or microaggressions. Please practice self-care and explore these resources at your own risk.

Microaggressions

<https://www.microaggressions.com/> Content Warning - This site explicitly conveys Microaggressions. Power, Privilege, and Everyday Life. This project was founded in 2010 and popularized the term "microaggressions" into public discussions. The original blog sought to make visible the ways in which social difference is produced and policed in everyday life through "microaggressions." Each event, observation and experience posted is not necessarily particularly striking in and of themselves. Often, they are never meant to hurt - acts done with little conscious awareness of their meanings and effects. Instead, their slow accumulation during a childhood and over a lifetime is in part what defines a marginalized experience, making explanation and communication with someone who does not share this identity particularly difficult.
